

POETRY.

From the Southern Literary Messenger, CHANGE.

My childhood's humble home I chance to wander now, Or thro' the grove with brambles grown, Where cedars used to bow,
In search of something that I loved—Some little trifling thing To mind me of my early days, When life was in its spring, I find on every thing I see A something new and strange; Time's iron hand on them and me Hath plainly written—Change.

My pulse beats slower than it did When childhood's glow was on My cheek, and colder, calmer now Both life's red current run.
The stars I gaze'd with rapture on,
When youthful hopes were high,
With sterner years have seem'd to change Their places in the sky.
And moonlit nights are plenty now—How few they used to be!
When with my little archer crew, I shouted o'er the tea.

I've sought the places where we play'd Our boyish "hide and call," Alas! the tyrant Change has made A common stock of all—
And barred for a place of graves That tea and all its bloom:
O, how upon the walls I wept,
To think of Change and Doom!

The lovely lawn where roses grew,
Is strewn with gravestones o'er;
And half my little playmate crew Have slept to wake no more.
Till Change itself shall cease to be,
And one successive scene Of steadfastness immutable Remain where change hath been.

It may sometimes make old men glad To see the young at play; But always doth my soul grow sad When thoughts of their decay Come rushing with the memories Of what my own hopes were—When Carroll's waters and my youth Did mutual friendship share.

THE FOWLER.

A SONG.

Altered from a German Air, in the opera of "Die Zauberflote." SET TO MUSIC BY MOZART.

A careless whistling lad am I, On sky-lark wings my moments fly; There's not a Fowler more renown'd In all the world for ten miles round!
Ah! who like me can spread the net?
Or tune the merry fagot?
Then why—O why should I repine, Since all the roving birds are mine?

The thrush and linnet in the vale,
The sweetest quavering nightingale, The bulfinch, wren, and woodcock, all Obey my summons when I call:
O! could I form some cunning snare To catch the coy, coquetting fair, In Cupid's filmy web so fine,
The pretty girls should all be mine!

When all were mine—among the rest, I'd choose the Lark I lik'd the best;
And should my charming mate be kind,
And smile, and kiss me to my mind,
With her I'd to the nuptial knot, Make Hymen's cage my poor cot,
And love away this fleeting life, Like Robin Redbreast and his wife!

THE SCHOOLMASTER AND HIS PUPILS.

Master—"Boys! Noah had three sons—Shem, Ham and Japhet. Now who was the father of Noah's three sons?" [The boys of the "third class" pause—look dubiously at their teacher—but there is no reply.]

Master—"What!—can't you tell?" Let me illustrate. Here is Mr. Smith, our next door neighbor, he has three sons, John, James, and Joseph Smith—Now who is the father of John, James, and Joseph Smith?

Boys—"Altogether, in eager emulous strife." "Mr. Smith." Master—"Certainly!—that's correct—Well now let me, turn to the first question, Noah had three sons—Shem, Ham, and Japhet. Now who was the father of Noah's three sons?"

Boys—"Unanimously, after a little hesitation." "Mr. Smith!" A late Dublin Magazine has a story somewhat alike save that the teacher and pupil were alike thick-headed.
An Irish tutor is examining a lad in Scripture History.

Tutor—"Is there any account given in Scripture, Phelim, of a dumb baste speaking?"

Lad—"Yes."

Tutor—"What dumb baste was it that spoke?"

Lad—"It was a whale."

Tutor—"Yes. To whom did the whale speak?"

Lad—"To Moses in the bull rushes!"

Tutor—"True. What did the whale say to Moses in the bull rushes?"

Lad—"Almost thou pursuest me to be a Christian!"

Tutor—"Very Well. What was Moses' reply?"

Lad—"Thou art the man!" Could there be any thing more broad ly burlesque than this—Knickerbocker

AND CHRISTY, at $2 per annum, payable half yearly in advance; if payment be delayed until after the end of the year $2-50, will be charged. Advertisements not exceeding one square will be inserted three weeks for one dollar, four dollars for six months, and eight dollars per year.

PROSPECTUS

For the continuation of the CARROLL FREE-PRESS.

THE interest of William Johnston, Esq., in this establishment, having been transferred to John Christy, the Free Press will in future be conducted by PEARCE & CHRISTY. The political complexion of this paper will not be changed —the editors being firm in their determination to preserve its neutral character.
The transfer from Mr. Johnston to Christy, has been made with the hope of ensuring the continuation of a newspaper in Carrollton: And with this view, the editors appeal to the people of the county for a patronage equal to the merits and importance of their enterprise. One of the editors being a practical printer, and having determined to devote his time exclusively to the interest of the paper, it is confidently hoped that, with a reasonable increase of their subscription list, the Carroll Free Press may be continued to the mutual advantage of both subscribers and publishers.

Of the convenience and necessity of a public Journal, published at the county seat, every citizen of the county must be convinced; and the editors trust that, the people of Carroll will sustain them in their efforts to promote public good, and to secure an honest maintenance.

TERMS.—The Free Press will be published every Friday morning, at Two Dollars per annum, payable half yearly in advance. If payment be delayed until after the end of the year, $2 50 will be required. But as payment in advance is for the interest of all parties, this mode is respectfully recommended.

Advertisements inserted at the usual rate. All communications addressed to the Editors must be post paid.

PROPOSALS FOR PUBLICATION OF THE OHIO STATE JOURNAL, TWICE A WEEK TILL DEC. 1, 1836.

To be edited by J. Bailhache.

THE high importance of disseminating correct information among the great body of the American people at the present alarming crisis in our national affairs, being universally admitted, it is deemed unnecessary to assign at length the reasons which seem to require the publication of a semi-weekly newspaper at the seat of government of this great State; at least until the coming struggle for the next Presidency shall have been brought to a close. Suffice it to observe, that a weekly journal, however capacious, must necessarily be too contracted, as well as too tardy in its operations, to meet the exigencies of the times. Two regular numbers per week, it is believed, will in a great measure, supply the acknowledged deficiency. In order, therefore, to insure a large circulation to the proposed publication, and place it within the reach of every one the price of subscription has been brought down to the lowest possible rate.

As the political opinions of the Editor are not unknown in Ohio, it is deemed unnecessary to give any other pledge of the course he intends to pursue, than to observe that, being fully persuaded the election of MARTIN VAN BUREN to the next Presidency must prove highly detrimental to the public interest, as well as imminently dangerous to the liberties of the citizen, he will zealously labor to prevent so deplorable a result, by affording an active, and so far as may depend upon him, an efficient support to THE CANDIDATE OF THE PEOPLE.

From Maine to Georgia, the freemen of the United States are rushing to the rescue of the country with a spirit worthy of the days of '76. Nothing more is therefore necessary to secure to them an easy and complete triumph over the office-holders, than a perfect organization.—To effect this, on honorable and lasting principles, shall be a leading object of the Journal; and while most cordially responding to the recent enthusiastic demonstrations of public sentiment in favor of our distinguished fellow-citizen, WM.
HENRY HARRISON, as Gen. Jackson's successor, it will treat with true fraternal kindness all those who, con-curring with us in uncompromising opposition to Mr. Van Buren, may nevertheless deem Daniel Webster, or Hugh L. White, entitled to the preference. In other respects, the semi-weekly Journal will contain the current news of the day, and such other matters as shall be thought interesting or instructive; and nothing will be omitted, on the part of the Editor and Publishers, to render it worthy of an extensive and liberal patronage.

Periodical Literature.

CINCINNATI MIRROR.

Edited by W. D. Gallagher & T. H. Shreve.
A NEW VOLUME JUST COMMENCED.

CIRCUMSTANCES connected with Mr. Marshall's private arrangements, having induced him to discontinue "The Buckeye," that publication, in accordance with the wish of a large majority of its subscribers, will be issued hereafter under its old title, the "CINCINNATI MIRROR."

The undersigned, in becoming the proprietary of this extensively circulated periodical, have the gratification of stating to the old friends of the "Mirror," and to the more recent subscribers to the Buckeye, that Messrs. William D. Gallagher and Thomas H. Shreve will resume its editorial management. In mentioning the names of these gentlemen, whose industry and literary qualifications are so well known, the publishers deem it superfluous to expatiate on the future character of the work; under their superintendence the CINCINNATI MIRROR attained its thousands of subscribers, and was recognized by most literary periodicals, in the union, as inferior to none of its contemporaries;—incontestable proofs of the estimation of their merits, and of the appreciation of Western Literature.

From the "Salutatory" of the editors, on resuming their duties, we make the following extract: "Gentlemen of means having become its proprietors, one difficulty which has always attended the Mirror, will hereafter not exist. We therefore hesitate for it at this time, knowing that it has suffered somewhat in public estimation by the several phases which it has presented within a few months, the attention of the western community: It shall be our endeavor to inspire general confidence, and merit general support. In calling matter for the selected part of the Mirror, we shall diligently "ransack" the popular magazines of the day, and the various new books that are constantly issuing from the printing press, and we shall have, an especial eye to variety and raciness. In the original department, we have secured the constant assistance of a number of gentlemen of education, talent and experience as writers. With us, one important aim will be, to bring out and foster the unknown unencouraged literary talent of the West. The cause of Western Literature we have long had at heart; and we have made some sacrifices and labored hard, and we trust not inef-fectively, to arouse slumbering energies, and elevate the character of the literature of this section of the great Union.
Anonymous correspondents shall receive from us respectful attention—but as we intend to make the CINCINNATI MIRROR a correct representative of the Literary Character of the West, we must be allowed the privilege of rejecting commonplace tales, prosing essays, lame verses, and crudities of all kinds."

The arrangements which have been entered into, will place the CINCINNATI Mirror under better auspices, than have attended it at any time since the period of its commencement. It will contain a larger quantity of reading matter than heretofore, and will be printed on superior royal paper, with entirely new brevier type. Every number will be furnished with a handsome cover; and the work will be issued punctually every Saturday morning, and be sent by mail the same day to distant subscribers.

TERMS.—Three Dollars per annum, if paid in advance, or Three Dollars and fifty cents, if payment be delayed six months.
